

Shantung Agreement

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN
Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—When one of the Chinese envoys in Paris heard of the Shantung agreement he burst into tears, and said with deep emotion: "I was educated in America and feel that I am half American. I cannot understand the diplomacy of America. I can never again tell my government to put any faith or reliance in America."

THIS incident does more than long arguments to show how vitally the Shantung agreement affects American interests in the Orient. It, as its supporters say, the agreement is only a temporary one, and full sovereignty over Shantung is to be restored to China by the League of Nations, then the assurances of this must speedily be given. For the Chinese consider that they have been betrayed.
American prestige in the Orient is down like a meteor in a blizard. And American commercial, religious and educational interests in China take the same view of the case as the Chinese. They do not believe that Japan intends to let pose of Shantung unless she is forced to do so.

Few Americans understand exactly what is involved in the Shantung agreement. Shantung is a great province of China, containing rich mines and having a population of nearly forty million people. Kiaochow is the name of a bay on the coast of this province, and of the district surrounding the bay. Germany, without any really good reason other than her desire for a foothold in the Orient, forced China to give her a concession of two hundred square miles on Kiaochow Bay. Here she built the town and port of Tsingtau. This town, port and concession Japan took from Germany during the war, and she now demands the right to hold them.

China entered the war largely at the behest of the United States in which power China had great confidence. She presumed that the government then guaranteed Chinese territorial integrity.
Furthermore, our other treaties with China bind us to support her territorial integrity and for political and commercial domination in the Orient.

The Chinese feeling is that we have been dishonest in our agreement in allowing Japan to hold Shantung, especially in view of the well known fact that Japan is ambitious for territorial expansion, and for political
and commercial domination in the Orient.

A still more sinister light is cast upon the affair by the existence of the Lansing-Ishii agreement, in which instrument we recognize that Japan has a "special interest" in China. Our state department has made it clear that it does not interpret this agreement as giving Japan the right to invade the territory of China. Japan has made it clear that she interprets the instrument in a much broader sense. And our approval of the Shantung agreement, in which we concede to the way Japan is administering her Shantung holdings, make it appear as though we were leaning toward the Japanese interpretation of this agreement. It looks to the Chinese, and to the American interests in China, as though we were deliberately letting Japan take a big bite out of the Chinese pie, for which her mouth was not made. And that we must either let her eat the whole pie or make her leave it alone altogether.

There are two arguments to justify the Shantung agreement. The first argument is that the Shantung concession is temporary, that Japan has agreed to restore it to China, and that the League of Nations will see that Japan does.

This does not satisfy the Chinese at all. In the first place, after the Shantung agreement was made by the Council of Four, the Chinese envoys asked for a copy of the minutes of the meeting so that they might verify the oral promise which the Japanese envoys reported to have made to the Chinese. The Chinese envoys refused to give them. After a month of trying the Chinese were unable to get the record of this promise.
Furthermore, it was intimated from Japanese and from British and French sources in Paris that no such promise was made.

The president is said to have admitted that the Shantung agreement was unjust to China, but to say that they would get justice from the League of Nations. To this one of the Chinese envoys replied with some cogency (1) that the League of Nations as yet has no power, and (2) that the Chinese what its exact powers or status will be, (3) that its ruling power will be the same nations that made the Shantung agreement, and that they can scarcely be expected to renounce their own agreement, and (4) that it is of Millard and the great body of Chinese and Americans whom he represents, or else the complete loss of Chinese prestige in the far east.

Plumb Says Wrecking of Rock Island and Frisco Lines Were Not Sporadic Examples.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Leading directly from Wall street and from the banking houses controlled directly by the Morgan and Rockefeller groups, the formation which has come into the possession of the railroad brother-hoods shows that there has proceeded a systematic plundering of virtually all of the public transportation highways in the United States, the house interstate commerce committee was told today by Glenn E. Plumb of Chicago.

Mr. Plumb who appeared in support of the so-called Plumb plan for the reorganization of the railroads, said the information tended to show that the "wrecking and looting" of the New Haven, Chicago and Alton, Rock Island and Frisco lines, were "not sporadic examples of the highways robbery to which the American nation has been subjected as to its public transportation highways."

Definite information on which his charges were based, Mr. Plumb said, would be turned over to the committee "upon which it is to be made the basis of a full congressional investigation."

"We believe such an investigation," he continued, "will reveal that not one railroad system dominating any part of the 264,000 miles of railroads in the United States has suffered and is suffering, in degree if not to the same extent, from carefully delivered manipulations of the sort that have wrecked and ruined the railroads I have mentioned. It will reveal that these interests are again gathering their forces of private and secret control and seek, after having gained from congress a sanction, to reestablish their railroad monopolies at public expense, to begin again and follow through its corrupt and wicked cycle the systematic plundering and looting of the public and the public interest in the nation's highways."

National Conference
"In view of the gravity of this situation and in order that the counsel on behalf of the public in presenting our statement to congress and to the American people, the 14 affiliated railway labor organizations are summoning to Washington a national conference on railroad control."

"On behalf of the public we are inviting to participate in this conference as members of the joint national committee on railroad control, Frank P.
Walsh, former joint chairman of the national war labor board; Joseph W.
Folk of Missouri; Raymond Robins; John Lind of Minnesota; Edward Dunn of Chicago; Dr. Edward W.
Bemis; Felix Adler; Gov. Allen of Kansas; Julia C. Lathrop, Judge Walter Clark of North Carolina and Dean Herman Schneider of the University of Chicago; and the following judges: Walter Clark, Edward P. Dunn, Joseph W. Folk and Dr. Edward W. Bemis have already accepted, and with others who may accept, will meet here with representatives of organized labor on Saturday of this week."

Information Withheld
"In view of the fact that the affiliated labor organizations which I represent, and on behalf of organized labor and the public, I will therefore ask to reserve this information which is in our possession until it can be properly presented to the committee on the jury of congress and of public opinion."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS AN

WILSON WILL ADDRESS
CONGRESS ON HIGH
COSTS OF LIVING

SENATOR KELLOGG SAYS HE IS WILLING TO TRY IT.

WILL NOT END
WAR FOR ALL TIME

Minnesota Republican Asserts That A Treaty Does Not Violate the Constitution.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Provisions of the league of nations covenant imposing obligations on congress do not violate the American constitution and the covenant can be ratified without interpretive reservations requiring submission to the other nations, in the opinion of Senator Kellogg, republican, Minnesota, today dealing with the treaty making power.

Senator Kellogg said he was "willing to try" the league, though he did not believe it would permanently prevent war. He suggested reservations dealing with the Monroe Doctrine, domestic questions and the power of congress to decide questions of peace or war.

Names Guarantees
Citing the alliance of 1778 with France, the Jay treaty of 1794 and many other obligations entered into by the United States the speaker said there was ample precedent for various guarantees in the covenant which have been objected to on the ground of constitutionality.

"Because a treaty limits sovereign power as the power to make laws—it is not thereby 'invalid,' he continued.
"Every treaty we negotiate to a certain extent destroys in the sense of sovereignty action. A treaty of which we have many, conferring certain privileges of trade, is binding, and if we perform our agreement, it limits its legislative action.

"A treaty does not violate the constitution because a violation of a treaty may cause war. The violation of many of our treaties might cause war, if the other party to the treaty so desired.

Might Can War
"It is claimed that we cannot enter into a treaty limiting armament, because no congress alone can raise and support armies and provide for a navy. By a treaty with Great Britain negotiated in 1817 we agreed to limit armament on the Great Lakes and no house sub-committee on military expenditures, who that 250 airplanes valued at more than $1,000,000 were piled in great heaps by officers' orders at Colombes-les-Belles, and deliberately burned.

Engines Destroyed
It was testified by witnesses of the 1st Pursuit Squadron, some of whom had taken part in the destruction, that 150 airplanes were burned after their engines had been removed and smashed. Some of the engines were described as in good condition. One had been in the air only twenty minutes, according to its log book. New wings, new tires and undamaged fuselages were burned.

ANTONIO ALMEIDA
ELECTED PRESIDENT

WILL PLACE CASE AGAINST PACKERS
BEFORE GRAND JURY

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Guarded by state troops, police and deputy sheriffs, ten thousand negroes who have been excluded in their homes for nearly two weeks because of race riots, returned to their work at the stockyards today.
One hundred and fifty white machinists employed by the negroes entered the plant. This was the only manifestation exhibited.

Three hundred negroes who applied to the packers for work were turned away and it was announced that no additions to the negro forces would be made at present.

One hundred white workmen employed by the Hammond Packing company later walked out because of the return of negroes to the plant.

M. F. Wegener, financial secretary of the stock yards, said that the number of white employees had walked out at noon and that the number was growing hourly.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The government's case against the five big packers will be placed before the federal grand jury which meets at Chicago three weeks hence. This means that criminal prosecution of the Sherman antitrust law, which was instituted by Chas. F. Clyne, federal district attorney at Chicago said today that besides asking indictments under the criminal sections of the Sherman antitrust law, civil suits would be brought under that statute and that in addition the packers would be prosecuted under the food control act on charges of hoarding.

Mr. Clyne has been in Washington several days conferring with Attorney-general Palmer.

Lisbon, Aug. 7.—Antonio Almeida, former premier and minister of colonies was elected president of Portugal today by parliament. Senator Almeida received 123 votes to 81 for other candidates.

Mr. Almeida is 54 years old and during the latter days of the monarchical regime in Portugal was considered one of the most violent republicans being imprisoned on several occasions for his conduct. He was the leader of the socialist radicals in the elections. He became premier in January 1913 and continued in office until April 21, 1917. He was formerly a physician.

drop salt on the clouds, causing condensation and thereby starting rain, would be splendid for forest fire fight-

THE LATEST.

Prices must come down or wages must go up. The railroad men have asked the government for the United States for help in solving their problem of labor. As a result, congress, at the request of the president, resolved its order for a recess of five long weeks.

That the people have appealed to the government for help is indicative that American belief in cure by legislation is still very strong. It would seem that congress is perfectly willing to take up the problem. What it will be able to do still remains to be seen.
Experience would lead us to believe that nothing will be done, except perhaps the undertaking of a number of investigations.

The thing that must be accomplished is a stable ratio between wages and prices. Constant shifting must be done away with. It is clear that prices are worth only $2.15. This is not inherently serious because adjustments could be made in wages to conform to the new standard. However, it seems to be unwise to return to former standards. The industries board has recently shown us that in 1914 there were signs of a world-wide advance in prices, and the stimulus of the war turned this advance into a price revolution.

The industries board tells us further that prices have risen to a greater degree in practically every country than they have in the United States.
If we assume that this revolution in prices is chargeable to the profiteers, it would seem that there was a worldwide ring of profiteers operating throughout the world. It is assumed that prices would remain approximately at their present level, then the problem of high prices would solve itself. An effort to discover probable price movements for the next few years, and even longer, is not impossible, in fact not even as hopeless as it might at first appear.

A careful study of conditions here and abroad should be made by economists so that the American people would not have to be groping in the dark. At the present time this is what they are doing. The business men and laboring men alike are fearful of signing any contract extending over a period of more than a few months.

AMERICA AND IRELAND.

Americans as a rule are disposed to hope for an early solution of the Irish problem—a solution that will prove ultimately to be wise and just and satisfactory. Those who favor an Irish republic are quite outspoken, and their ardor is arousing some bitterness of feeling against us in England, and among the Protestants in Ireland.
The great majority of us are keeping quiet, withholding our views, and wishing that, for the sake of the general good, England would hurry up and effect some kind of sensible adjustment.

When we read George Creel's new book, in which he pleads passionately for an independent Ireland, speaking of "the groaning of Ireland under the weight of her wrongs; when we learn of Prof. de Valera's triumphant appearance before thousands of sympathizers, and when we observe the efforts of former Governor Dunne, P. P. Walsh, and others, to stir America against Britain, we sometimes ask ourselves why England can be so phlegmatic, so apparently indifferent.

It may be that we do not know of all the problems and anxieties that are standing in the way of settlement.
An American army chaplain, writing for "The Congressionalist," in Boston, of a Sinn Fein mass meeting in Wester, says that the chairman declared: "Sinn Fein means Ireland for Ireland, or in other words, Ireland for the Pope." One of the speakers, according to the chaplain correspondent, stated that the Irish now controlled America by both direct and indirect means, reminded his hearers of the resolution adopted by our senate, and declared that certain agencies could precipitate war between England and America whenever it might seem necessary.

Protestant ministers in Belfast, says the chaplain further, agreed with a belief of Dr. Van Allen of Boston, "that the Vatican in Italy finds itself in an embarrassing situation following the war, that change of location is necessary, and that Ireland is to be the place."

It is quite probable that friends of Irish independence would rejoice at seeing the Vatican removed to Dublin, and could see no reason for any one's opposing. On the other hand, many in Ireland would dread a new union of church and state, with power and authority in the hands of men inspired by resentments at ancient tyrannies and oppressions. TNT is gentle stuff beside this question of independence for Ireland.

A GOOD MAN IS GOING.

The resignation of Frank J. Green as secretary and manager of the Chamber of Commerce is a distinct loss to the city, as well as to the body which he has served so faithfully.
Those familiar with his work appreciate the manifold duties of his office and the very systematic and efficient manner in which he executed them. The city as a whole has benefited by his sojourn here and it is fortunate that we have had the opportunity of having the service of so energetic and thorough a secretary as Mr. Green, especially at a time when Janesville has taken the stride of a very busy, growing city.

While it is to be regretted that he answers the call to a broader field of endeavor, we must congratulate him upon a record, the character of which invites him to the highest type of service.

The directors of the Chamber face a difficult problem in the selection of his successor. The ideal man must be efficient from every angle and far-sighted as well,—he is the inspiration of the community forces and through his clear vision and example leads the workers for city betterment to deeds of action. Frank J. Green is such a man.

ICE SHORTAGE.

Considerable has been said of the ice shortage but the average consumer forgets readily, particularly when his own supply is not interfered with. The situation, however, is growing tense and there is great need for ice economy among Janesville consumers at this time, that the babies and those confined to their homes on account of sickness may not suffer.
By strict economy, the ice supply in Janesville will last until September 15th, according to Mr. Tall, president of the City Ice company.

Cities and towns nearby are applying to Janesville in numbers every day only to be refused. There is just one way to beat the shortage here and that is to economize—don't use a pound of ice unnecessarily. Cover your ice with paper and the refrigerator with air-tight cloth and see that the doors are shut tight. Economize.

Someone wants to know what the war drive solicitors will do all next winter, without canvassing to do?
Well, they'll spend some of their time wondering how the people who told all the hard luck stories last winter now have so much money to spend.

If the very fact of our treaty with France will prevent further German attack, why doesn't the same logic impel us to keep our navy two laps ahead of any other?

Might as well say it right out in meeting: Most of the race-rioting is done by those who would as cheerfully riot about anything else.

There's a good deal of talk about selling bread by weight, and on that basis Mrs. Newby's product must be valuable.

Beia Kun had only $1 prominent citizens shot in June. Must be a shortage of powder over there.

The politicians are welcoming the soldiers by offering themselves to them as candidates for office.

Why is it that the farmerette feels it necessary to wear high heel shoes with her overalls?

TO AN OLD FRIEND.

When we have lived our little lives and wandered all their byways through,
When we've seen all that we shall see and finished all that we must do,
When we shall take one backward look off yonder where our journey ends,
I pray that you shall be as glad as I shall be that we were friends.
Time was we started out to find the treasures and the joys of life.
We sought them in the land of gold through many days of bitter strife.
When we were young we yearned for fame, in search of joy we went afar,
Only to learn how very cold and distant all the strangers are.

When we have met all we shall meet and know what destiny has planned,
I shall rejoice in that last hour that I have known your friendly hand.
I shall go singing down the way of yonder as my sun descends As one who's had a happy life, made glorious by the best of friends.

THE NATIONAL PRESS CLUB.

The National Press Club in Washington is said to be the only press club in the world that never gave a benefit theatrical performance, or sold an advertisement of any kind, or took a gratuity from any source from any one who was not a member. As a consequence it reeks with ethics and sweats with poverty. Its portals are choked with the great and the near-great, but it serves all alike with paper napkins.

It is a great forum and natural habitat of forensic disputation. When it comes to argument these scribes are almighty quick upon the trigger.
They dispute about everything from boot-leggers to higher jurisprudence.
And they are well up with facts. It is their trade to know about everything and everybody. They can tell you why Woodrow Wilson had one trouser leg turned up when he had his picture taken with King George, or how many long black cigars Uncle Joe Cannon has burned up during the last half century.

An in addition to what they tell you they literally bulge with information they do not use. It has been said that they do not use it. It has been said that if on a given day they all should put upon the wires the sum total of their knowledge of noted men and public affairs, that on that day the nation would stagger from the impact and our dear republic would rock upon its heels.

This does not necessarily mean that our great men are bad. It means that the vigilant gentlemen of the press are astute enough to use their knowledge that they are fair and wise and useful in playing up the bigger side of things, rather than depicting the mean and lesser things.

That is why the National Press Club is a Mecca for the great and the near-great, and why all alike are served with paper napkins.

A. H. P. D. Triplex glass is made up of three layers of material, two of glass and the middle layer of xylonite. This middle layer makes the glass no less transparent but keeps it from breaking. A severe blow produces fissures in the glass but the flexible material holds it all together. It proved of great service during the war for gor-gies for armors. It is slightly thicker than other glass and of an amber tint.

300 IN PERIL WHEN ENGINE JUMPS TRACK ON MONTEREY BRIDGE

Lives of 300 men, women, and children were endangered this morning when a pair of drive-wheels on the locomotive pulling the train from Chicago jumped the track on the high bridge in Monterey. No one was hurt.

The engine came to a distance of 1,200 feet on the trestle after the two drivers had left the rails, bumping along the high trestle over the Rock River. Wagon Mills race and passing safely over the trestle over Western avenue. None of the coaches jumped the track.

Traveling at too high a speed around the curve is the only cause for the accident. Passengers stated the train was going at a fast rate when the mishap occurred and that although the brakes were applied immediately it took some time for the engine to stop before coming to a halt.

Bolts holding the rails in place were sheared in two along the entire distance. Ties were loosened, the tracks thrown out of alignment, spikes torn and nuts and washers rammed and twisted into all kinds of shapes. A switch engine was called and with a big crew of men, the locomotive was placed back on the track, and proceeded to Janesville in 15 minutes late.

The train, the only all-steel outfit entering Janesville on the St. Paul line, was made up of two baggage cars, four passenger coaches, all well filled, and a dining car.

A section gang was placed at work repairing the track immediately after the accident. Trains were allowed to pass over the track at a low rate of speed throughout the day.

LOCATION SECURED FOR RECRUITING TRAIN

A location has been secured for the recruiting train which will visit Janesville, August 12 to 15. Mayor T. E. Welsh announced this morning. The property owned by the Wadham Oil company back of Gurd's Brewery has been donated by the company for the use of the train. This is the land that has been used by the carnival companies for many years. It is on the corner of Franklin street and Western avenue.

The recruiting train started out from Camp Grant several days ago and is visiting several cities in the state. Much of the equipment which they will bring with them is made up of machine guns, tanks and helmets, which have been seen in the world war.

CITY FORCED TO GO ON SUGAR RATIONS

Janesville went on sugar rations today for the first time since the war order was withdrawn. A shortage locally being the cause of grocers and dealers will sell sugar in limited amounts depending on their supply. Alexander Jacobson, secretary of the commercial division of the Chamber of Commerce announced.

With the possibility of a tie-up in freight traffic within the next few days as the result of the shipmen's strike, the prospect for a continuation of the order for rationing is very real.

The supply of sugar in stock in local warehouses is practically exhausted, dealers say. The shortage is being felt only in Janesville.

No longer will housewives be troubled with butter which tastes and smells of kerosene. Effective next week, grocers will make no more deliveries of oil with orders. Through the efforts of Alexander Jacobson, secretary of the commercial division of the Chamber of Commerce, all oil delivered through residential districts has been secured. In the future oil will be delivered in the same manner as ice, housewives being supplied with cards which they may place in a window when they wish to buy gasoline or kerosene.

SECOND SAMSON UNIT NEARING COMPLETION; RUSH FOUNDRY WORK

More than 75 percent of the steel work on the second big unit of the Samson Tractor plant was in place today for proceeding with the concrete floor proceeding with a large force of men on the job. Excavation for the new foundry is practically completed.

Steel work on the second unit has been somewhat delayed this week owing to a walk-out of three crews of riveters—12 men in all—last Saturday. They decided to quit unless they were granted an increase of from 25 cents an hour to 37 1/2 cents an hour. The men returned to work on Sunday, but the strike was not settled. The men are being secured to replace those who laid down their tools Saturday.

Riveters state the wages asked are similar to the schedule in effect in other places. They declare they are willing to remain for work on the foundry providing they are given the increase.

NEIGHBORING TOWNS BEGGING FOR ICE

There is enough ice stored by the City for customers to supply the needs of the city until the first of October, Sam Tall, of the City Ice company, announced today.

Due to the low water level in the city, the local company has been unable to obtain ice from the local company. There is not enough of a supply to meet the outside demands. Mr. Tall stated this morning that not at any time during the summer will the city be able to obtain ice from the local company.

After October first the ice supply will have to be brought in from other cities. In April and May, ice shipped into this city from Madison and Oshkosh. Since then no ice has been shipped into the city.

STRIKE EFFECTS ARE FELT TODAY; DELAYS NOTED ON BOTH LINES

Numerous delays in freight and passenger traffic on both the C. M. & St. P. and C. & N. W. lines, through Janesville, ranging from 15 minutes to 2 hours were noted today, the fifth day of the strike.

The following order was received today by Alva Hemmens, general agent here for the Northwestern line, from R. H. Alshon, Chicago, regional director:

"Effective at once and continuing until further notice all freight and passenger trains, carload and less than carload, will be accepted subject to delay account of strike. All bills of lading must be endorsed as follows: 'This freight accepted subject to delay account of strike of the C. M. & St. P. R. R. Co. and C. & N. W. R. R. Co. All shippers are notified that this information is given shippers promptly.'"

Strike leaders at their headquarters on North Academy street had nothing further to say in regard to the situation today. Matters pertaining to the strike were discussed at a meeting held last night but no announcement was made.

Idleness prevails at both roundhouses. Engines needing repairs are being operated, strikers say.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Practically all railroads of the middle west had in effect today a complete stoppage of freight traffic, on account of the strike of federal railroad employees.

Shoppers continued to spread. M. L. Hawver, president of the council directing the strike in the middle west said traffic will be "discontinued in three days."

Seven years ago a farmer living west of this city hung his vest on a fence in the barnyard. A calf chewed up a pocket in the garment in which was a standard gold watch. The calf was butchered for beef, and the time piece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration—the closing in and the filling of the lungs—kept the watchwinder wound up, and the watch had lost but four minutes in the seven years!—Mason City, Iowa, Globe Gazette.

The Magnificent Ambersons

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Copyright by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"No," Isabel said, "it makes me laugh so much at nothing is Eugene's factory. Wouldn't anybody be delighted to see an old friend take an idea out of the air like that—an idea that would let any old friend of his be happy to see how he'd made his idea into such a splendid, humming thing as that factory—all shiny steel, clicking, buzzing away, and with all those workmen, such muscled-looking men and yet so intelligent looking? It's beautiful to see such a thing," she said. "It makes us all happy, dear old Eugene!"

And with a brave gesture she stretched out her hand to him across the small table. He took it quickly, giving her a look in which his laughter tried to remain but vanished before a gratitude threatening to become emotional in spite of him. Isabel, however, turned instantly to Fanny. "Give him your hand, Fanny," she said gaily, and as Fanny mechanically obeyed, "There," Isabel cried, "if brother George were here, Eugene would have his three oldest and best friends congratulating him all at once. We know what brother George thinks about it, though. It's just beautiful, Eugene!"

Lucy leaned toward George and whispered, "Did you ever see anything so lovely?"

"As what?" George inquired, not because he misunderstood, but because he wished to prolong the pleasant neighborhood of whispering.

"As your mother! Think of her doing that! She's a darling! And papa—here she imperfectly repressed a tendency to laugh—papa looks as if he were either going to explode or utter loud sobs!"

Eugene commended his features, however, and they resumed their conversation.

FROM CHERRY-BLOSSOM LAND

The Japanese Give Good Example

It is a proverb of Cherry Blossom Land that beauty of face and figure depend on womanly health.

What is it that makes our American women often pale, sallow-faced, with dark circles under the eyes, and very often old at forty-five when they should be in their prime?

Women suffer in girlhood from backache, spine-ache and headaches, followed by irregularities and as a result diseases of the womanly organs are more common than any one but a physician in active practice could suppose.

After long experience in the treatment of women's diseases, Dr. Pierce evolved a vegetable tonic and corrective which he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is a purely vegetable preparation, without a particle of alcohol contained in it.

When a woman complains of backache, dizziness or pain—when everything looks black before her eyes—a dragging feeling, or bearing-down, with nervousness, or a should turn to this "temperance" herbal tonic. It can be obtained in almost every drug store in the land and the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper. Put up in tablets or liquid.

Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., will send a trial size of the tablets for ten cents.

tomary apprehensiveness." "I don't write verses," he said—"if you remember."

"Yes," Isabel interrupted gently, "I remember."

"I don't recall that I've written any for twenty years or so," he continued. "But I'm almost thinking I could do it again, to thank you for making a factory visit into such a kind celebration."

"Gracious!" Lucy whispered, giggling. "Aren't they sentimental?" "People that age always are," George returned. "They get sentimental over anything at all. Factories or restaurants. It doesn't matter what!"

And both of them were seized with fits of laughter which they managed to cover under the general movement of departure, as Isabel had risen to go.

Outside upon the crowded street George helped Lucy into his runabout and drove off, waving triumphantly and laughing at Eugene, who was struggling with the engine of his car, in the tonneau of which Isabel and Fanny had established themselves. "Looks like a hand-organ man grinding away for pennies," said George, as the runabout turned the corner into National avenue. "I'll still take a horse, any day."

He was not so cocksure half an hour later, on an open road, when a siren whistle wailed behind him, and before the sound had died away Eugene's car, coming from behind with what seemed fairly like one long leap, went by the runabout and dwindled almost instantaneously in perspective, with a lace handkerchief in a black-gloved hand fluttering sweet derision as it was swept onward into minuteness—a mere white speck—and then out of sight.

George was undoubtedly impressed—"Your father does know how to drive some," the dashing exhibition forced him to admit. "Of course Pendergast isn't as young as he was, and I don't care to push him too hard. Well, I enjoyed part of that lunch today quite a lot, Lucy."

"The said?"

"No. Your whispering to me." George checked Pendergast to a walk. Whereupon Lucy protested quickly: "Oh, don't!"

"Why?"

"I know when you make him walk it's never going to be."

"Why?"

"It's just a feeling."

"You haven't any reason or—"

"It's just a feeling."

"Well, if that's all," George said, reassured, and laughing confidently, "I guess I won't be very much troubled."

But, at once he became serious again, adopting the tone of argument. "Don't you care enough about me to marry me?"

She looked down again, pathetically. "Yes."

"Well, then, why in the world won't you drop the 'almost'?"

Her distress increased. "Everything is—everything—"

"What about 'everything'?"

"Everything is so—so unsettled."

And at that he uttered an exclamation of impatience. "If you aren't the queerest girl! What is 'unsettled'?"

"Well, for one thing," she said, able to smile at his vehemence. "You haven't settled on anything to do. At least if you have you've never spoken of it."

As she spoke she gave him the quickest possible side glance of hopeful scrutiny; then looked away, not happily. Surprise and displeasure were intentionally visible upon the countenance of her companion; and he permitted a significant period of silence to elapse before making any response. "Lucy," he said finally, with cold dignity, "haven't you perfectly well understood that I don't mean to go into business or adopt a profession?"

"I wasn't quite sure," she said gently. "I really didn't know—quite."

"Then of course it's time I did tell you. You know yourself there are a lot of people in the East—in the South too, for that matter—that don't think we've got any particular family or position or culture in this part of the country. There were one or two in my crowd at college; their families had lived on their income for three generations, and they never dreamed there was anybody in their class out here. I had to show them a thing or two, right at the start, and I guess they won't forget it! Well, I think it's time all their sort found out that three generations can mean just as much out here as anywhere else."

Dinner Stories

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch tells of a carpet merchant who bought a drug store and used the sign by making it

"Rug Store." Recalls the purchase of a trunk factory by a saloon man who insisted that the sign went with the purchase and made it, by a stroke of the brush, "Drunk Factory."

The conversation turning to the beauties of Chaucer, a spirited discussion ensued. Not one of the members of the Christmas gathering had ever seen, much less read, a line of that gentleman's works; but they all had to pretend they had.

Grandma, however, was foolish enough to confess her ignorance.

"Who is this Mr. Chaucer?" she asked. "Is he very popular in society?"

"Madam," solemnly responded one of the debaters, "that man did something that forever shuts him out from society."

"Heavens," exclaimed the worthy dame, "and what was that?"

"He died, madam, several hundred years ago!"

Even the children are beginning to talk motor jargon.

"Look, mother," said a little fellow, pointing to a hole in his stocking. "I've had a blowout."

A little girl, being asked how she managed to catch a chicken, replied: "I just ran up to him and gave him out 'un' then I picked him up."

A third youngster, who was usually slow in obeying his mother's call, came quickly enough when she called him to dinner. On her pointing this fact out to him, she said: "Oh, I always change to high when I come to meals."

Marinette, Wis., Private Albert Manske, third division, who was badly wounded in the left knee, in the battle of the Argonne, sustained a fracture of the leg above the wound Monday. He is still using crutches, and was home on a furlough. While leaving his home he fell down the steps, sustaining the fracture of the leg and was immediately placed on the train and sent back to the Ft. Sheridan hospital.

THE WISHING PLANE

After their ride on the ponies the children were taken to the yards at the harbor, nearby, where the ponies were loaded into boats to be carried to little boys and girls in all parts of the world. Some of the ponies were going to circus owners who would teach them fancy tricks and make them perform for the little folks who go to see the circus.

While the children were at the dock they saw some ponies led into one of the boats tied up there.

"It really doesn't seem right to take the ponies away from their mothers and pony playmates and ship them away just as if they were boxes or something like that," said Jane.

"I hope the children who get them will be kind to them," said Jack. "I'll be kind to them," said Jack. "I'll be kind to them," said Jack.

Parker-Samson Game Saturday Will Be For Championship

By George McManus.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED TO SEE BATTLE

BRINGING UP FATHER

CITY LEAGUE STANDINGS.

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Parker Pen	4	0	1.000
Samson Tractor	3	1	.750
Machino Co.	2	2	.500
Barb Wire	1	3	.250
Y. M. C. A.	0	4	.000

What promises to be one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed an industrial league game in Janesville will be on hand at the new Samson park Saturday afternoon to see the Samson Tractors and the Parker Pen battle in the crucial game of the season for both teams. The tractor-makers are going to make a desperate attempt to wrest league honors from their bitter enemies who have had everything their own way throughout the season.

The Samsonites are putting in some extra ticks of practice this week in preparation for the big game and with George Beiger's arm going strong they can see nothing but victory Saturday. The Parker sluggers are equally as confident and into a stability of being forced into a tie for first place is causing them little worry. Sunny Viney, considered one of the best pitchers in the league, is slated to leave for the penmen.

Although the Samson has a bunch of good ball players, they do not seem to play together in championship form. The breaks of the game always appear to come against them and it is admitted they have been playing in rather hard luck all season. Last Saturday they were beaten by the Y. M. C. A. nine but the game was later declared a forfeit because three non-Y members were used.

This game is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock with the Y. M. C. A. Machine Co. game following with St. John pitching the first game.

At the fair grounds, the Barb Wire and Products aggregations will engage in combat beginning at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. A victory for the Products will put them in a tie with the wire-makers.

League is Success. W. Porter Craig, physical director at the "X" has again taken charge of the league after an absence of a month at Lake Geneva and Kansas City.

The games Saturday make the wind-up of the 1919 league. Had the league been started two weeks earlier it would have been possible to play two complete rounds, each team playing ten games. Instead of five, but the fact that Saturday afternoon is a number of plants will be a thing of the past after September 1, prevents any further contests. The league has been a great success when it is taken into consideration the difficulties under which it was organized and run. The start has been made. Next year will probably find Janesville with the greatest industrial league it has ever had.

EXTRA! JAMES GET FRANCHISE

Janesville became a member of the Lake Shore baseball league today assuming the franchise forfeited by the Racine club. The first league game will be played here Sunday with the McCoy All Stars of Milwaukee, with Mel Wolfgang, former Sox slabster, pitching.

Manager James A. Murphy of the Lawrence James, was informed by Richard Marcan, president of the Lake Shore league, over long distance phone late today that he had been given franchise and would play the first game Sunday.

The scheduled game with the Chicago Marquettes was immediately cancelled, and arrangements were at once begun for the McCoy All Stars contest.

In entering the league Janesville takes the position left by Racine. With this change the league standings to date follow:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Manitowoc	9	4	.692
Sheboygan	10	5	.667
McCoy All Stars	7	6	.538
Kosciusko	7	7	.500
Janesville	8	7	.533
Waupun	2	11	.154

ALL-STARS PLAY JUNIOR FAIRIES AT YOST'S, SUNDAY

After two weeks of idleness, due to the cancellation of the Argyle game, the All-Stars will get into action at Yost's park Sunday afternoon when they will mix sticks with the Junior Fairies of Beloit. The game is billed to start at 2:30.

This will be the first of a three-game series and it is the hope of the stars to come through with a victory to get the edge on the Gateway City gang. After a good rest, they are again eager to get the action.

McGinley, who pitched for the Junior Fairies, will be on the mound for the Stars. He is expected to pitch for the Stars. He is expected to pitch for the Stars. He is expected to pitch for the Stars.

The Stars will practice tomorrow evening. According to the Juniors, the game is about the same caliber team as the Stars, having a team ranging in age from 17 to 21 years.

Attention, Albany! A Little Answer To a Little Challenge

Sporting Editor, Gazette: Regarding the note of the Albany baseball club, who did play the Albany team, but I would hardly call it a trial of skill, as stated in their letter, as it would be impossible to exhibit any skill on a baseball diamond laid out in a field from which the hay had just been cut. This was the case at Albany, where the experienced players were laid out about three hours before the game.

As for the Albany club repeatedly trying to get a return game, one or two of the Albany players have asked when we were going to play them again. I took the James to Albany in order to help them get their season started, and at a direct financial loss to myself.

As for being afraid to chance it again, as the Albany letter puts it, if the Albany team wishes to play Janesville, they may do so here August 24, providing they will come here for the same amount of money paid us at Albany and are willing to wager $200 in good American coin.

Now, Albany, it is up to you. Do you really want to play? By the way, I would like to know who is the manager of the Albany team. I have never been able to learn this, and his name did not appear in their letter to the Gazette.

Chief of Pirates Is Troubled With 'Athletic Heart'

'Athletic activity in youth does not necessarily imply longevity of life. It does not even imply sound health in middle life. Hugo Bezdek, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, realizes this now as he never realized it before. The Pirate boss is ill with 'athletic heart' and during the past few weeks he has suffered to such an extent that it was necessary to place himself under the care of a heart specialist. While there may be no cause for immediate alarm in Bezdek's condition, the fact remains that his heart has been weakened through athletics and over-strain, and only the greatest care will give him relief.

Few men in this country led a more active athletic life than did Bezdek. From the time he entered school he was active in all branches of athletics. He starred at football, but he also took part in nearly all other major sports. Until three years ago he was as active as any athlete, for during the time he was coach at Oregon University, he was credited with having worked harder and moved faster than any youngster on his squad.

Bezdek always doubted the 'athletic heart' theory. A month ago, however, the truth of it was brought home to him forcibly. His heart palpitated and at times seemed about to jump out of his body. He became dizzy and later had much difficulty in breathing. His first consultation with a physician brought temporary relief, but in the past two weeks the annoyance in the heart region became so severe he was forced to leave the Pirates at Philadelphia and return to Pittsburgh for treatment.

Physicians have never found a remedy for 'athletic heart.' They declare it is caused by the sudden stopping of athletic activity when the heart muscles become somewhat atrophied, and do not function normally. Rest is the alleged cure, but even this does not insure against a sudden stoppage of the heart beat and death. Bezdek realizes his condition and is shunning all excitement.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Aug. 7, 1879.—S. Holdrege and family have returned from Lake Geneva. They report a fine time and a good rest. Prof. G. W. Horscoe has returned home and will resume his practice as a piano tuner.

From a letter from D. W. Watt we learn that the Burr Robbins circus is having a successful season in Illinois. Mrs. Watt expects to join her husband at Sandwich, Ill., next Saturday.

The Presbyterian Sunday school will have a boat ride and basket picnic at Crystal Springs tomorrow afternoon. The Lotus will leave her dock at 1 o'clock.

James Blair left yesterday afternoon for Princeton, Ind., and the remains of his wife, taken there for interment. The Opera house was well filled last night at the presentation of a flag to the Janesville Guards. A portion of the Rockford Rifles arrived early this afternoon and others came later, about 30 being present, who under the command of Captain Lawler participated in the occasion. The Beloit Guards and Custer Rifles also had representatives here. At an early hour in the evening a parade was given by the Bower City band, the Janesville Guards and the Rockford Rifles. The stage was decorated with banners and flags. Musical numbers were given by the Amphion quartet, Mrs. H. A. Smith, Mrs. C. B. Conrad and the Mission quartet. The flag was presented to the guards through O. H. Fether's.

NOT everyone will be able to secure a Brunswick during our great Special Offer. BRUNSWICK GIVES JOY WHILE YOU LIVE

Why the Brunswick Method of Reproduction Insures a Superior Phonograph

Reason No. 1 The Brunswick Method of Reproduction includes the Ultona, a new conception in playing. The Ultona consists of an arrangement of the several necessary reproducing diaphragms up one tone arm—an all-in-one arrangement, with no attachments—nothing to take off or put on.

At a turn of the hand, the Ultona presents to any type of record the proper diaphragm and needle, the exact weight. Thus the requirements of each type of record are met. The Ultona demands no sacrifice in tone, as attachments often do.

Reason No. 2 Equal in importance to reproduction is tone amplification. The Brunswick Method of Reproduction also includes a new idea in acoustics—The Brunswick Amplifier.

Old-time ideas were at variance. Some makers still cling to metal construction. Others use a combination of wood and metal—a wooden horn and a metal casting as the "throat."

But the Brunswick Amplifier is oval in shape, and built entirely of wood, with a fine violin. It is molded of rare holly-wood. The sound waves receive uniform amplification to reach their fullness, hence the Brunswick tone is richer and more natural. Strident, metallic notes are absent.

Sheep Shearers Make $20 to $35 Daily Wage

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.) Salem, Ore.—Twenty to $35 a day are the prevalent wages here now for sheep shearers. This is the statement of Dr. W. Lytle, state veterinarian and secretary of the State Livestock Sanitary board.

Shearers receive 22 cents per head throughout Oregon. One hundred sheep per day is only a fair average for a man to shear. The state record is 297. The shearers are well organized, says Dr. Lytle, and no one not a member of the organization can find that kind of employment.

Philadelphia.—Hundreds of war cripples have registered serious complaints against ineffectual results obtained by the federal board for vocational training.
